

To share these social media posts, please copy the text below and paste it into your platforms as the caption. Download the social media post by clicking the image to access a link to a downloadable image.

Caption	Post
Colorado providers have a life-saving tool they can use when someone with access to firearms is at risk of hurting themselves or others: Extreme Risk Protection Orders (ERPOs). ERPOs are temporary, preventive tools that help remove firearms from dangerous situations, reduce harm, and create space for treatment and safety planning when someone poses a significant risk. Take a free e-learning course to learn more, from recognizing when an ERPO may be appropriate to filing and follow-up steps at LetsTalkGunsColorado.com/Professionals/.	Click the image below to access a link to download the post image.  A social media post featuring three healthcare professionals (two women and one man) in white coats. The text on the left reads: "When someone has access to firearms and is at risk of hurting themselves or others, Colorado providers can file for an Extreme Risk Protection Order (ERPO) to reduce harm and allow time for treatment." Below this, it says "LEARN MORE IN THE FREE E-LEARNING COURSE at LetsTalkGunsColorado.com". A small logo for "Let's Talk Guns COLORADO" is in the bottom right corner of the image. When someone has access to firearms and is at risk of hurting themselves or others, Colorado providers can file for an Extreme Risk Protection Order (ERPO) to reduce harm and allow time for treatment. LEARN MORE IN THE FREE E-LEARNING COURSE at LetsTalkGunsColorado.com
Firearm safety is part of keeping our communities healthy. Whether for protection, sport, or tradition, many Coloradans own firearms. Talking with your patients or clients about storing their firearms securely can help prevent unintentional injuries, suicide, and other tragedies, especially when kids or someone in crisis is in the home. Visit LetsTalkGunsColorado.com to take a free e-learning course and learn more.	Click any of the images below to access a link to download the post video.  Four social media posts arranged in a 2x2 grid. Top-left: "FIREARM SAFETY is part of keeping our communities healthy." Top-right: "There is a secure FIREARM STORAGE option to match..." showing an open gun case. Bottom-left: "...every household's needs, preferences, and routines." showing a closed gun safe. Bottom-right: "Explore STORAGE OPTIONS" showing various storage equipment like a box, cables, and a lock. All posts include the "Let's Talk Guns COLORADO" logo and the website "LetsTalkGunsColorado.com". FIREARM SAFETY is part of keeping our communities healthy. There is a secure FIREARM STORAGE option to match... ...every household's needs, preferences, and routines. Explore STORAGE OPTIONS

To share this e-learning content internally, please copy the text below and paste it into your organization's internal communication channels. Download the digital banner by clicking the image to access a link to a downloadable image.

Extreme Risk Protection Orders (ERPOs) are civil court orders that temporarily remove firearm access when someone poses a serious risk of hurting themselves or others. During that time, health care and mental health professionals can:

- Review the patient's treatment plan,
- Identify new intervention options,
- Or refine existing approaches.

Filing an ERPO creates space for safety, care, and recovery.

Visit LetsTalkGunsColorado.com/Professionals/ to take a free e-learning course and learn more.

Click any of the images below to access a link to download the post video.

Extreme Risk Protection Orders (ERPOs) are one of several important tools that can help prevent gun violence during a time of crisis. When someone is at risk of harming themselves or others and has access to firearms, an ERPO allows for the temporary removal of those firearms through a civil court order. In Colorado, health care and mental health professionals are eligible to file. This legal option creates space for safety, intervention, and treatment.

Visit LetsTalkGunsColorado.com/Professionals/ to take a free e-learning course and learn more.

Click the image below to access a link to download the post image.

To share this e-learning content internally, please copy the text below and paste it into your organization's internal communication channels. Download the digital banner by clicking the image to access a link to a downloadable image.

In Colorado, health care and mental health professionals can file an Extreme Risk Protection Order (ERPO) if a patient is at significant risk and has access to a firearm. An ERPO is a temporary order that removes firearms and prevents new purchases during a period of crisis.

Visit

LetsTalkGunsColorado.com/Professionals/ to take a free e-learning course and learn more.

Click the image below to access a link to download the post image.

